

Attendees

- Alkheemist (Frontier)
- Amatadorro (Troyeshima Pirates)
- aquif (Cosmatic Drift)
- Bird (Starlight)
- Chief_Engineer (Adminbus)
- cyberjoel (Delta-V, Frontier, Afterlight, Euphoria)
- Darkrell (Starlight)
- Falcon (Aurora's Song)
- fancyplanks (Impstation, Aurora's Song)
- G (Funkystation)
- GRAY (Harmony)
- hivehum (Impstation)
- Jajsha (Harmony)
- Jezithyr (Wizden, Afterlight)
- Jimboe (Delta-V)
- June (The Den)
- Kazne (Stellar Station)
- Kip (Impstation)
- Lank (Cosmatic Drift)
- lobsterpaw (Impstation)
- lunarcomets (Cosmatic Drift)
- Mace (Frontier)
- mqole (Impstation)
- Myzumi (Tools)
- Nairood (Cosmatic Drift)
- Pox (Aurora's Song)
- Princess (Wizden)
- r3d (Starlight)
- Rainbeon (Funkystation)
- Ress (Wizden)
- Rosie (Aurora's Song)
- ScarKy0 (Wizden)
- Slartibartfast (Wizden)
- Walksanator (Starlight)
- youtissoum (Harmony)

Slides: 📄 SCC Meeting Agenda 13th of June

Date: Jun 13, 2026

Minutes taken by mqole (493234058088677379)

Meeting chaired by Kazne (132690872616747008)

Topics

Status of launcher and steam alt domains registered, might keep them. not fully set up. email needs to get working eta tomorrow. play.ss14.com. launcher controlled by wizden, secure, auditted, backed up off original database as of when servers got taken down. anything needed technical side feel free to reach out. current steam page may go down - unfortunate but uncontrollable, may be able to recoup. CANNOT make an alt steam page per lawyers - valve will nuke your steam account. current alt hubs have survived this long, might see increased visibility due to this? but we arent risking it. had one prepared but will not use it. steam page may go down, if it does, we will direct to website. should not affect people who have already downloaded the game. valve may put a legal hold on the page which makes it just hide pending transfer. DO NOT MAKE YOUR OWN STEAM PAGE.

cyberjoel: where is this info cited?

jezithyr: unsure. steamworks facing contract i think. cannot share with parties other than valve, cannot publish, nda? other steam pages do exist, have gotten away with it. this situation has brought valves attention to ss14 so they MAY get blown up for breaking steam rules.

bird: doesnt valve have a policy against agpl?

jezithyr: agpl / gpl code is in the steamworks faq caps and bolded, "DO NOT DISTRIBUTE 3RD PARTY CODE". all contributions to ss14 code is 3rd party, so every gpl fork in theory is in violation of this. for community forks valve will be more understanding maybe but for launcher, if they are made aware of it, they have to act darkrell: will auth server need to be changed on client? secret key?

jezithyr: secret keys i believe reissued, will need to log in

Wizden Communications

waiting to have something to show, "we are doing stuff but cannot tell you" unhelpful. unavoidable. rolling soon as we are basically almost back up on feet. ideally a ton of announcements from princess in future, legal multitasking big time consumer & has winded down. would like to do more announcements, have been very quiet for last month. have had to run announcements by legal. with forks outside scc will be done through main announcement channel until & after bridge is set up. more announcements. hoping to have chosen project directors by today, delayed by a week. very busy! once restructuring is complete there will be more delegation (in addition to existing). overwhelmed but has been going good.

mqole: "future" exact timeframe?

princess: probably tomorrow as thats when we plan to get auth back up, more needing to write lined up vis a vis repo etc. next one tomorrow, more next weekend, maybe a few sprinkled in between if all goes according to plan. depends on how fast stuff moves amatadorro: major community meeting?

princess: qna, have thought about it. would want an organisation structure for it first. good idea, main question would be how we do it. could do a reddit ama or community stage. lot of ways, bikeshedding, would be down. maybe next weekend or sunday or both.

nairod: most of community on discord princess: maybe reddit ama earlier because easier, and proper qna later since im probably going to be community manager (been doing lots of associated work). putting it in big notepad list fancyplanks: 'people feeling wizden too silent' many people still don't know what's going on, spoken to people who would like occasional updates even if it's just saying they're still waiting on things for reassurance that things are still moving. reddit eg. people getting antsy. legal silence understandable, just nice to reassure community even if its not big princess: can do that. main thing holding back is that a lot of answers to main questions (drama, c&d) have to be careful about saying in public, also don't want to encourage shitstirring / he said she said, been doing some damage control in devbus. can do more engagement updates once things are up and running. maybe some community showcase. will put community people on it, schedule to be decided chief_engineer: what is misinformation jezithyr: "pjb deleted infra" - when we were being stonewalled by pjb wrt transferring keys, prepped 2 statements. 1 = pjb deleted infra, 1 = pjb stood down. had credible evidence pjb was prepping to do it, when pjb started removing access the announcement was there. 0 communication, break glass in case of emergency.

princess: after announcement did go out, received info that was not deleted, made a retraction.

jezithyr: 'backdoor' - cannot comment. there is no backdoor. more to be covered in legal discussion later. 1 thing was deleted - server was deleted and rebuilt from backup according to pjb, apparently accidentally deleted admin logs and had to roll them back to the start of june-ish(?). we have backups princess: lot of people scared because 'deletion' misinfo, please publically spread retraction kazne: how do we move things to new launcher princess: talking to a lot of community members and youtubers happy to help advertise. very grassroots. some stuff want to obscure because legal. community very tight knit, lots of people care about this rosie: seperate discord channels with info that is safe to share?

princess: server rep in 'server rep' channel, as well as separate server dedicated to information sharable. will post semi public stuff for the most part in general, private stuff will be hidden in server rep channel. full public will be announcements. will probably reach out to server reps with specific updates.

bird: since there is a main SS14 youtube channel. Who has possession to that? Since I would assume the trailer that was released has the outdated invite and maybe IP.

princess: pjb i believe, trailer may be still old invite unless updated but will probably change after this meeting when minutes release.

kip: flatpak distribution for linux?

princess: we should be distributing this on the website when it goes up, launcher will be fundamentally the same as pjbs launcher.

chief_engineer: top 3 misinfo- 1. deleted, 2. backdoor, 3. ???

princess: idk lol. those are the 2 big ones. otherwise mostly just speculation, but thats very broad / vague hivehum: safety of current auth / servers princess: cannot currently verify safety as pjb taking on emergency admin apps and cannot guarantee vetting, no real way to guarantee any Belated welcome to Troyeshina Pirates!

community has been around 4 years, about 500 members with pop around 20/30 - 50/60. group fork, very important to be in touch with knowing what is going to happen and stick together with larger servers. much love in the chat <3 aquif: sorry it took so long to get word out, wanted to get more non-english forks involved but did not know who to contact

Current legal status

[REDACTED FROM PUBLIC MINUTES]

Devbus

princess still has to be in there for now. Can it be salvaged? asked durk: has kind of been taken over by pjb as her discord now. probably not. have been tossing around officially dropping support from the existing devbus, kind of a downer so would want to make that announce seperately if it occurs. possibility of integrating devbus into official ss14 discord: maybe? would not mind having a more neutral space for devstuffs. too many channels!

chief_engineer: interest in independent devbus?

princess: would not want to be completely independed - kind of a place where poeple who got banned from wizde3n went, wasnbt too much of an issue until now. independent place would want to be coowned by multiple people to prevent this kind of controversy. ideally with bridge, more dev woud happen on wizden - a devbus would become a shared space for downstream development, which bridge kind of wants to bbe. public discord will need a reason to exist jezithyr: thinking of splitting wizden dev into community and dev discord princess: discord management sucks. massive pain to scroll through channels. splitting would be nice but current discord is nice having admins and devs able to discuss, ease friction. threads also suck. have to make a compromise one way or the other kazne: when should this happen?

princess: will set up stuff on wizden side, maybe not needed. if needed maybe make it a forum or something.

hivehum: wait until fires go out alkheemist: showcase channel is nice princess: agreed. ideally want to maintain this in upstream bridge for downstreams to advertise fancyplanks: devbus future as a community built place for resources, ss14 currently lacks good documentation / conglomeration of resources, onboarding for new creators in a place where people can ask stuff without being called idiots princess: ideally most development docs will be upstream, downstreams will need docs for own systems. still deciding. maybe will have a place to share all tips, maybe not needed, will need to see how it shakes out after the big upstream things are organized. all speculative

Discord moderation

4 mods atm: aquif, ce, kazne, mq. more needed. max 1 per fork? not mandatory to have mods from every single fork. want more mods as more servers join scc. covering timezones and delegation. grace period proposed for new servers. currently 1 mod to 23 users, maybe adding 2 more mods. do not want to represent potential bias kip: given that we are all representing our respective development teams, communities, and servers as a whole, would it be best to keep a stricter rule system re: being on your best behaviour kazne: going through a moderator when there is an issue very good idea kip: do regret personal involvement in a recent disagreement, largely underlying issue with lack of professionalism in a space that should be taken very seriously mqolr: aquif posted thread to apply rosie: I think the idea of adding two additional moderators, and making an announcement/statement would be good. A statement that you are welcomed into here on the basis that you will behave yourself. This isn't the place for arguing, period, and I think lack of professionalism should very quickly result in action being taken. If you wouldn't say it to someone at work, definitely don't say it in here.

Servers wanting to join SCC no current formal system, just a vote. hivehum really enjoys looking into prospective servers. abus joining form shared. want to set expectations for what the space is and communicate this to prospective joiners cyberjoel: is the scc going to stick around long term or are we just keeping things around until the dust settles? if it does stick around, what will the purpose be?

kazne: setting up server for the 1st time was very temporary. scope has consolidated and currently serves an important role, would like to see it stick around after things settle down - maybe not with so much regular meetings, but good for managing future situations, very good response tool cyberjoel: what would the difference then be between this server and devbus / adminbus nairod: closer to a hostbus than an adminbus, there is an official hostbus but its been dead for 3 years pox: I'd also argue this has higher standards for professionalism and a more concentrated reason to exist mqole: this is probably a conversation that can happen when we stop needing a reason to exist alkheemist: player count, region / language kazne: hub status, the contention of servers who have had dehubs huck: looking at rules of server to get initial first impression princess: upstream bridge would probably need a verifiable player count to avoid 'johns first server population 3'.

rosie: community size, history / connections, server age, experience of rep outside ss14 princess: idea of someone who is a rep / character witness, does not need to be directly affiliated mqole: happy to make draft form for voting on after this meeting amatadorro: no russian communities being represented, would be nice for them to join, language barrier & misinformation everyone: YES!!!!!!!!!!!! would love to bring more people in, just don't know who to contact

Questions / notes

nairod: any concern about project declining due to lack of control over steam page?

[RESPONSE REDACTED FROM MINUTES FOR LEGAL REASONS]

kazne: itch.io could be big for visibility as well jajsha: Could there be similar legal issues if an itch page is run while the steam one is not yet down?

jezithyr: no, its a steamworks contract thing mqole: meeting minutes will be shared internally for review, made public in 24 hours aquif: next meeting in 2 weeks unless we need to meet sooner hivehum: will reach out to the stalker 14 server to ask about russian language communities falcon: access to flathub entry?

jezithyr: someone reaching out to deal with that, unsure how it works but not as much legal stuff involved as steam for example